

ABOUTUS

On-Demand Health Media, LLC is a video based, web delivered Health and Wellness Company that utilizes the power of video to change behaviors. Our management team is passionate about helping individuals improve their lives.

Not all studies show the exact same outcome, however all provide overwhelming proof of the power of video to help people change their ways. International Anesthesia Research Society's study shows that, "Video delivery can increase information retention by up to 16 times over text alone." American Academy of Pediatrics determined that, " When viewing video patient learning time is cut by almost 50%, with 24% more retention." McGraw-Hill's research shows that people remember approximately 5% of what they read, 15% of what they hear and 64% of what they hear and see.

Our video library and service are not meant to replace existing wellness programs but to greatly enhance them. With our 400+ videos we want to help people identify health risks and disease in their early stages. Preventive care and individual accountability are keys keeping your healthcare costs at a minimum. A person can select from the menu of wellness topics, health issues, disease explanations and medical procedure overviews. No pharmaceutical or medical device companies influence our content..... no sponsorships, no advertising.

We believe that knowledge is power..... it can decrease stress and empower people to change their habits. The numbers are astounding70% of illness is preventable but unfortunately, 95% of health expenditures are committed to diagnosing and treating disease after the fact. We want to change these numbers.

And..... custom productions are our forte. Some of the management team previously owned and operated American Media the world's leading corporate video producer where they produced hundreds of awarding winning videos ranging from employee orientation and time management to employment interviewing.

We aim to exceed our customer's expectations in every way, with the quality of our product and the efficiency of our service.