

SEAN HAIRE

Sean Haire - Director of National Accounts, On-Demand HEALTH Media™, LLC

As Director of National Accounts for On-Demand Health Media™, Mr. Haire excels at delivering exceptional service and tailored health and wellness solutions to the organization's growing client base. He specializes in business-to-business development, new market development, strategic processes, and organizational development of corporate structure.

Mr. Haire served as National Account Executive (West Region) for United Parcel Service (UPS), one of the largest companies in the world, where he developed and maintained an account base of $20 million. He worked in tandem with the UPS senior management team and the National Account Manager to ensure that all contractual obligations were met. Sean earned a reputation for providing extraordinary customer service for his clients.

Sean Haire earned a Master's Degree in Organizational Development from Upper Iowa University and a Bachelor of Science degree in Marketing from Johnson & Wales University.